QUESTION 9 SINGLE CHOICE

A test taker needs to write a short message to a classmate to ask whether the classmate can lend a notebook from last week's lesson. Which sentence is the most appropriate informal way to ask?

A Would you be so kind as to lend me the notebook from last week's lesson at your earliest convenience?

B I am writing to inquire whether you might be able to lend me the notebook from last week's lesson.

C Hey, can I borrow your notebook from last week's class? I missed it and need to catch up.

D I respectfully request that you provide me with the notebook from the lesson held last week.

ANSWER C

WHY The MET 4 Writing Task 1 assesses the ability to write a short message to a friend, classmate, or family member, which calls for an informal register. Option C uses casual greeting ('Hey'), contractions ('I'), and a friendly tone appropriate for a classmate. Options A, B, and D use formal structures ('Would you be so kind', 'I am writing to inquire', 'I respectfully request') suited to a message to a teacher or someone in authority, not a classmate.
